CLINICAL EXPERIENCE

2019-present. University of Illinois. National Institutes of Drug Abuse (DP1 DA048570). Digital, Community-Led, Social Action Initiative to Reduce Opioid Vulnerability and HIV/HCV in Rural Areas of the Midwest and Appalachia (PI: Dolores Albarracín; Co-Investigator: Marta Durantini). Total Costs: $3,901,354. April 2019-March 2024. (Avant Garde Award within the Pioneer Award Program). As a Co-Investigator I designed procedures for contacting, enrollment, and retention of the participants.

2009-2015. University of Illinois.

Selective Exposure in HIV Prevention, NIH funded project. Study site is Duval County Health Department. As Co-Investigator I produced five experimental videos and designed all the study materials. I designed and supervise procedures of enrollment, intervention, and referrals. I train and supervise the counselors and research assistants and lookout for the counseling fidelity to the protocol. Investigator in NIH funded project Digital Social Action Initiative for HIV/HCV Associated with Opioids.

2003-2008. University of Florida.

Selective Exposure and HIV Prevention, NIH funded project. Study site was Alachua County Health Department. As Co-PI, I trained and supervised research assistants and counselors, and provided counseling and assessment for clients with high-risk behavior. I was in charge of liaison with Health Department Clinics. I provided referrals to Crisis Center and other clinical and community services. I supervised students in training, designed research protocols, and designed counseling and fidelity protocols.

1989-2002 Director of Human Ecosystems Foundation

The Foundation followed a science/practice model. I conducted psychological assessment of individuals and families for forensic reports. I provided treatment for families. Psychological assessment included MMPI, Roscharch Psychodiagnostic, Weschler's Adult Intelligence Scale, Weschler Intelligence Scale for Children, and Bender's Gestaltic Visomotor Test, and other specific techniques. Thirty percent of this work was part of research projects; families were mostly court-referred. I also trained psychologists, physicians, social workers, court personnel, and lawyers in evaluation, mediation, and family therapy approaches.

1985-1989 Associate, Center for Therapy with Families and Couples, Buenos Aires, Argentina. I provided therapy for couples and families undergoing difficult divorces. I conducted psychological assessment and wrote regular evaluations for schools, physicians, and courts. I regularly presented cases and trained therapists through formal courses and one-on-one supervision.

1978-1987 Associate, Center for Family Therapy, La Plata, Argentina. I was a clinician responsible for diagnosis and treatment of individuals, couples, and families. I performed evaluation included developmental evaluation with emphasis in psychological assessment, systematic observation of family interactions, and school and court consultation.

1962-1977 Psychologist, Center for Behavior Guidance, Ministry of Education of Buenos Aires State, La Plata, Argentina. I was responsible for psychological assessment and placement of children in special education programs. Reviewed school curriculum based on psychological principles. I selected battery of tests for standard use. I regularly tested children using educational and psychological tools, and performed short treatments focused on learning and behavior disorders. I wrote reports and provided consultation for schools in the Province of Buenos Aires. I participated in committees that selected school inspectors.
